

GROUP LICENSE SUMMARY

DISCLAIMER: This is not a license. This is a summary of DigitalGlobe’s Group License that highlights its key terms. Please read the full Group License text for the exact (and legally binding) terms that apply.

You can license DigitalGlobe products pursuant to a GROUP LICENSE if:

- You represent a legal entity that wants to share the imagery with its affiliated entities for internal purposes only
- You represent a government agency that wants to share the imagery with other agencies in the same government for internal purposes only

Sharing: You can share the imagery with up to 4 of your affiliates or related agencies under a “Group License 1 to 5” or with an unlimited number of your affiliates or related agencies under a “Group License >5.”

Unlimited Authorized Users: You can let an unlimited number of your employees and contractors and the employees and contractors of your affiliates or related agencies use the imagery products.

You and your authorized users are free to:

- develop derivatives of the products by:
 - formatting, editing, digitizing and/or combining with other data (“Imagery Derivatives”)
 - extract geographic features, human-made features, persons or animals and related data via identification, measurement, and/or analysis (“Feature Derivatives”)
- store, access and reproduce the products and derivatives
- display an extract of the product or a derivative on a website in a non-extractable and non-downloadable

Products and Imagery Derivatives for internal use only:

- You may only use the products and Imagery Derivatives for your internal purposes and the internal purposes of your affiliates or related agencies. You may not use the products or Imagery Derivatives for commercial purposes.

Feature Derivatives for all uses:

- You will own all Feature Derivatives (excluding orthorectification and certain elevation/bathymetry models) you create and can use them for any and all purposes.

For the term you choose:

- Your license can be perpetual or for a one-year term (which can be renewed annually).
